

LENT STUDY COURSES AROUND THE CIRCUIT

Let Justice Flow' is a six-week Bible study based on the ministry of the Old Testament prophet Amos. The study raises deep and searching questions of faith: What kind of God would allow such pain and suffering to occur in his world? Can God's people expect protection from natural or human-made disasters? The study also addresses issues of social justice, which are present throughout the Book of Amos. These issues are then situated within our current time through the report 'A Justice-seeking Church'. The Methodist Conference of 2023 adopted this report and commended it to the wider Methodist Church (throughout Great Britain) for prayerful study and action. It is a response to our calling as Christians to explore what it means to act justly, love kindness and walk humbly with God which is seen as integral to a Methodist way of life. The aim of this study is to challenge comfortable faith, whilst also feeding and nourishing those who seek to better understand their world and their place within God's creation.

Anerley and Upper Norwood Churches: Rev. William Davis is encouraging members to join the Ashing service and zoom Lent course organised by Forest Hill/Wesley Hall: see below

Burnt Ash Methodist Church:11am Wednesday mornings, led by Rev. Craig Gaffney: Lent reflections commencing with Ashing Service on 14th February, then weekly thereafter.

Eltham Park Methodist Church: 2.30pm Thursday afternoons on 15th February and 14th March, led by Rev. Richard Grocott.

Forest Hill and Wesley Hall Methodist Churches: Ashing service 7.30pm on 14th February at Forest Hill, then 7pm Tuesday 20th February and weekly thereafter via zoom, led by Rev. Charles ILunga. Zoom link https://us02web.zoom.us/j/6207575606

Lewisham Methodist Church: 7.30pm Tuesday evenings led by Rev. Richard Grocott, commencing 20th February 2024, then weekly thereafter.

Sunfields Methodist Church: 7.30pm Wednesday evenings led by Rev. Craig Gaffney Grocott, commencing 14th February 2024, then weekly thereafter.

All are welcome to any of the study sessions